Community Centre

The lease of the land upon which the Centre stands officially expired on 29th March 2012 and the Management Committee has been seeking a further lease for the past 18 months. It is hoped that a new long term lease, to include additional space for the proposed Multi Use Games Area, will be secured by the turn of the year. In the meantime the original lease continues on a month to month basis. During discussions with Fife Council officers it emerged that, whilst the original lease stresses that the building "shall remain the property of the Tenants" (North Queensferry Community Centre Management Committee), Scottish law dictates that ownership of any building on leased land transfers to the landlord (Fife Council) upon termination of the lease. We are thus in a position of having to lease (and possibly pay for) a building built and largely funded by the community of North Queensferry. Clearly, the Management Committee will continue to press for the most advantageous outcome. However, residents may wish to make their feelings known to the Community Council or their Fife Councillors.

At the AGM held on 20th September the existing management committee (Iain Whyte, Jill Brown, Brian Armstrong, Christina McKenzie, Greta Dyce, Lucie Macaulay, Leonard Gray, Danny Howie and Tracy Macleod) were re-elected and David Skivens was elected to the committee. With regret, Iain Whyte stood down as Chair due to conflicting pressures on his time and the Committee wishes to place on record its appreciation for his leadership and wise council over the past three years. Election of office bearers will take place shortly.

The AGM also saw us bidding farewell to our caretaker, Phil Rands, who has done an invaluable and much appreciated job over the past 10 years. His relief, Pat Murray, is now in post following a robust recruitment process.

Ferry Birds – May to September 2012

Despite the weather some of the summer visitors seem to have had a successful breeding season. The common terns on the derelict pier were the most obvious. They first appeared in any number about the 20th of May and by the middle of June I counted at least 80 adults. By mid July there were young birds both on the pier and perched precariously on the rocks on the shore adjacent to the pier. I counted at least 40 young there in late July. Numbers started dropping in late August and they had left the pier completely by the 4th of September. Other birds which seemed to do well were a pair of swallows by the front door of a house on Main Road which fledged at least one brood and, considering the numbers of goldfinches flying around both in North Queensferry and elsewhere in Fife they had a very good season. Blackbirds I think have done well, but I haven't seen a song thrush in the village for several months. Press reports suggest that house sparrows and starlings are decreasing in number. I think this is the case in the village for the starlings, but there are plenty of house sparrows around. They do, however, seem to have their favourite places. Near Pierhead buildings is one spot and near East Bay another. I estimated about 40 at the former place on the 20th of July. The house sparrows also seem to favour the bushes on the railway embankment opposite the school.

Interesting sightings I have had in the last 4 months have included up to 6 bar-tailed godwits which have been busily feeding on the mud in West Bay. They have joined the resident oystercatchers and the returning redshanks in the bay. The redshanks disappeared in the middle of April, but there were some back at the beginning of July. The first I saw were a few on the 6th and numbers slowly built up and now there are between 30 and 40 in the bay. Whimbrels were another wader I spotted. They have a very characteristic call and it was this that alerted me to a small group flying high over the lower village on the 10th of July and there was 1 in West Bay on the 9th and 10th of August. Whimbrels are smaller versions of the curlew. They breed in small numbers in the north of Scotland, particularly in The Shetlands on Fetlar. They winter along the shores of West Africa and fly down the North Sea coast in the late summer and autumn calling in at good feeding areas to refuel for their journey. A kingfisher was seen in West Bay at the beginning of October and I saw a grey wagtail (confusingly quite yellow) on the flat roofed station building on the 8th of October. It was accompanied by about a dozen feral pigeons which were enjoying a bath in the puddle on the roof. On the 14th of September there was a red-throated diver not far offshore from Port Laing and there was also one there on the 9th and 10th of October. A grey heron has been in West Bay fairly regularly and it seems to spend some of its time on the rocky island just off the Railway pier. Several shelducks were feeding in West Bay in June and July but I again didn't see any young and 2 mute swans paid a brief visit to the bay on the 21st of September. I have seen the peregrine falcons occasionally through the summer with one interesting sighting over the common tern colony on the derelict pier. I was walking down the coastal path when the noise from the terns changed. They were responding to the presence of the peregrine flying overhead. It didn't attempt to catch anything and flew off towards Cruicks Quarry. There are still ravens around. I saw them at Carlingnose Point on the 11th July and the 17th of August and also near the quarry on the 10th of August. A good sighting on the 20th of July was a little grebe feeding at least 1 young on Ferryhills Loch and more recently a tawny owl was calling from the woodland at Northcliffe on the 8th of October. Finally the last of our summer visitors were probably a few swallows feeding over the station on the 28th of September.

In the autumn gannets are regularly seen offshore from the coastal path. They appeared again this year and I saw round about 50 flying around Inverkeithing Bay on the 3rd and 14th of September. They were accompanied this year by hundreds of guillemots. These birds were scattered all over the sea, often in pairs, which I discovered later were probably adult males each in charge of a young bird. Guillemots are flightless at this time as the males moult and regrow their feathers and the young have not yet learned to fly. I read later that thousands of guillemots had appeared in the Forth Estuary and many had been found dead on the strand line. These so called wrecks happen every now and then as a consequence of bad weather, poor feeding conditions or disease. There was a happier outcome for a guillemot which somehow ended up in the back yard of the Ferrybridge Hotel. It was successfully caged overnight and when called to the rescue I was able to launch it onto the sea at the end of the Town Pier. It didn't say thank you, but after pecking my hand paddled off to sea apparently non the worse for its experience.

The field gentians on the Carlingnose Point reserve appeared again this year. I counted at least 50 plants in August in the same place as last year. The lesser meadow-rue and the dropwort also did well. The annual cutting of the grassland will be done in the next few weeks. This is done to ensure that the gorse does not take over and the optimum conditions for these rare plants are maintained.

The ivy around the village is now starting to flower and provide sustenance for various insects such as hover flies, wasps and bees. Most of these insects will not make it through the winter, but provide our common garden birds with food as they build up their reserves to give themselves a better chance of survival. Any wilder corners of your garden will also help by sheltering slugs and snails for the blackbirds and thrushes to feast on so please leave some places in your garden untidy to give these denizens of damp dark places a place to live.

A Forgotten Legacy ?

Maritime history over the centuries on the River Forth is well documented but must never be forgotten.

The North Queensferry Peninsula is enriched with stories and tales about the ferries, naval and merchant , and today cruise ships that have visited - some for a while and some ending their working lives in this area.

Every ship comes to the end of its useful life as time and technology progress.

History records that the west side of the peninsula offered the largest and best safe anchorage at St Margaret's Hope with many thousands of ships using the bay in the 19th century. This led on to one of the fundamental reasons why the Port of Rosyth was built and the resulting naval use during WW1 and WW2 and post war until 1996.

On the east side of the peninsula there is a different story to record. Inverkeithing Bay was home for the shipbreaking company T W Ward which specialised in dismantling a wide cross section of ships making up our maritime heritage. From the 1920's onwards many of our great ships entered the Forth to end their days at Inverkeithing.

T W Ward offices shows just a few of the naval and mercantile ships dismantled.

The names of Rodney and Revenge conjure up memories of WW2. The great days of the Atlantic liners and the honour of the Blue Riband are represented by the Mauretania, the pride of the French fleet in the 1930's.

The Homeric and the Olympic were the White Star line's successors to the Titanic. There were many smaller and perhaps less well known ships but each one was important in its own right having a history to tell.

Shipbreaking at Inverkeithing ceased and passed into history in the 1970's but the story of recycling metals continues to this day. Robertson Metals occupies the former yard of T W Ward for handling all scrap metals largely gathered from the east of Scotland. This material is then exported to many ports in western Europe to restart the manufacturing cycle.

The Heritage Trust, with the help of Inverkeithing History Society, hopes to continue the research into this important part of our local maritime heritage.

If any reader is able to help the trust in its research by having or knowing the location of any artefacts from the great age of ship building and dismantling, please contact through the website at www.nght.org

Visitors from Ghana

The Committee had a few nail-biting days, at the start of September, awaiting confirmation that visas had been granted to Rev Gershon Agbi and Mrs Esther Kandah. Gershon's visa was granted just a few hours before his scheduled departure on 6th September but Esther's was not. After strenuous intervention from the Churches' Head offices in Ghana and Scotland, she was eventually able to join us, on Tuesday the 11th.

North Queensferry had a busy programme ready for the two visitors. On Saturday the 8th there was a well attended village ceilidh in the Community Centre. Guests were entertained by piper, Dave Neil and by Sophie Sullivan, Highland dancer. Children from the school. Angus Colston, Sam Trotter, Lewis Galloway & Jack Maclaurin, recited Scottish poems. Accordionist, Jack Leask and keyboard player Sandra Allan, played Scottish tunes to listen and dance to. It was a great evening.

On Sunday there was a soup brunch held in the Church after the service, after which Gershon was taken on a trip to St. Andrews. The next day he visited Falkland Palace. Esther joined us on the 11th.

On Thursday 13th they joined with the congregations of North Queensferry and Inverkeithing for the induction of our new minister Rev Colin Alston and experienced more traditional style of Church building in Inverkeithing.

In view of the school element of our twinning, they spent a day in North Queensferry School. They talked to the classes about school and life in Ghana and the children had prepared a special assembly with African drumming, dancing and Scottish Poetry and songs.

At the church service on Sunday 16th September

(which was Rev Colin Alston's 1st service as our new minister) the twinning agreement was signed. After the service, Gershon and Esther were taken on a sail to Inchcolm Island, for the annual Pilgrimage organised by Aberdour Church. Their hosts found out belatedly that Esther was terrified by water and boats! She braved the water – and the rain and even looked out the windows on the return sail.

Other events and outings included a trip to Loch Lomond and Kilmartin Glen, a trip to the Falkirk Wheel (Esther was very impressed by the ingenuity of that), a visit to Hopetoun House, and a guided tour of the Scottish Parliament. They were also taken on a tour of New College and the Assembly Hall and of the old town in Edinburgh, to a Scotland vs Macedonia Football Match, and to Culross. We even managed to fit in a surprise Birthday Party for Gershon..

Their last full day was spent at a Church of Scotland Conference on 'Twinning' and a farewell party, hosted by Jan and Dougie Short. We returned our (exhausted) guests to the airport on Friday 21st September. They found Scotland colder than they had ever imagined but we hope that this was allayed by the warmth of their welcome. One comment from our visitors was that they were impressed how we treasured and cared for both our personal heirlooms and our old buildings.

The committee would like to extend a huge thanks to everyone who worked so hard, for their hospitality to the visitors and for their enthusiasm and effort in making the visit a success.

Coastal Rowing Club

The Rowing Club has been out rowing most weekends over the summer on our 4-man rowing skiff, "St Margaret's Hope" and even managed to take part in a couple of races in regattas at South Queensferry and Portobello. We've seen seals and porpoises and nesting seabirds up-close on Inchgarvie as well as keeping an eye on the arrival of the caissons of the new bridge and casting the odd mackerel line. We've had all ages from 5 to 75 having a go and enjoying being out on the water and looking at North Queensferry from a new angle.

Our second skiff is just about finished, thanks to the hard work of Frank Woods and a team of helpers who have been sawing and glueing and sanding and painting down at the shed at the Boat Club ever since the first skiff was launched. We are hoping to get "Ferry Sonnet" in the water and get practising with our new "racing oars" right through the winter before an official launch party in the spring.

If you'd like to find out more or come down and have a go please get in touch at:

n.queensferrycoastalrowingclub@yahoo.com or find us on Facebook.

Membership is open to anyone aged over 16 and you don't have to have any experience or any particular level of fitness. We are very family-friendly and there is space for everyone from bird-watchers to bacon-roll fans to budding Olympic athletes. Next year we're hoping to organise a range of trips and events including picnics on Inchcolm island and competing at the inaugural World Skiff Championships in Ullapool in July.

Gala Committee

We may have had a week of wind and rain but it didn't deter the good folks of North Queensferry, there was yet another huge turnout for both Gala week and Gala day.

Many thanks to everyone who came along to support us and take part this year. The committee would also like to thank local businesses and residents for their generous donations and sponsorship, without which such an action packed week could not take place. We implemented a few changes to the running order for 2012, the record number of entrants for the mid week Bridge Race proved this was a big hit! The newly purchased gazebo was used on Gala day to provide an entertainment venue and a luxurious rain shelter.

Our AGM was held in August. We go forward into 2013 with a very enthusiastic committee. Ann Gordon is now chairperson, joined by Hugh Clarke as vice-chairperson, Nigel Carter as treasurer and Linda Whiddett as secretary. Our committee meetings are held in the Albert Hotel or the Queensferry Hotel on the last Thursday of the month (see facebook for updates), please feel free to come along and join us. As always we are looking for Friends of the Gala to help at the various fundraisers and events throughout the year. Let us know if you can help!!

Our first fundraiser, a 80s Disco, was held at the beginning of October. There was an overwhelming array of fantastic costumes and a great night was had by all who came along. There will be more of these nights to come, perhaps a 70s theme???

Our annual children's Halloween Party will take place on the 28th October. It will be held in the Community Centre from 4:30pm – 6:00pm. There will be fancy dress and best pumpkin competitions as well as all the usual spooky favourites. See you there.....if you dare.....!!!

Following the phenomenal success of last year's Christmas Fayre we are hosting another event at the Queensferry Hotel on the 29th November. Perfect for all your Christmas shopping needs, we have a tantalising array of stalls confirmed. Please see Facebook, s1 or a committee member for details of ticket sales.

Gala week dates for 2013 have now been confirmed as 8th-15th June. Gala Day will be held on Saturday 15th June 2013.

We welcome your feedback and input and encourage you to get in touch with us via email: northqueensferrygala@hotmail.com, join us at a meeting or like us on Facebook.

Remembrance Sunday

This year's annual Service of Remembrance will be held at the Village War Memorial on Sunday 11th November, commencing at 10:50 a.m. The Salvation Army Band will play for us and tea and coffee will be available at the Albert Hotel after the service.

This is very much a whole community event, which has been well supported in the past and it is hoped that this year will be no exception. Should anyone wish to play an individual role at the ceremony, perhaps to read the Eulogy to the Fallen or to play a lament, please contact Brian Armstrong on 417429. He can also acquire Remembrance Crosses, should anyone wish to place one as a personal tribute to an individual or an association.
